

Colorado Northwestern Community College

College Work-Study Program Policy

Each student accepting employment through the work-study program is expected to observe the following policies and procedures, and to follow them.

- A. Upon receipt of a financial aid work-study award, students must obtain Authorization for Student Employment paperwork from the Financial Aid Office.
- B. Upon completion of all required employment paperwork, through the payroll office, students will pick a job from the Work-Study Job book.
- C. From the job listing, select one or more positions and contact the work supervisor(s) identified on the job description(s) to arrange for an interview. If hired by the supervisor, the supervisor must contact the financial aid office. The financial aid office will provide a "referral form" that will need to be signed by both the work-study and the supervisor. The signed referral form must be returned to the financial aid office before work is begun.
- D. Supervisors will clearly define the duties and responsibilities with the student so that together both may arrive at mutual expectations. Also, students should clearly identify their workdays and hours. Students are held accountable for maintaining the established work schedule.
- E. Students who are ill or unable to report to work must always contact the supervisor in advance to either notify him/her of illness, or to rearrange work hours. Never, under any circumstances, fail to report to work without notifying the supervisor in advance.
- F. When at work, it is inappropriate to have friends visit or to make personal calls. Students who need to make a personal call must check first with the supervisor.
- G. Students must record all hours worked through their "Crossroads" account. At the end of the payroll period the student will submit his/her hours for the supervisor's approval. Time will be submitted every other Friday. Any student who falsifies a time sheet will be suspended from the work-study program, may be suspended from all financial aid programs, and referred to the U.S. Department of Education for suspected fraud investigation. Further, failure to submit a time sheet may result in suspension from the College Work-Study Program.
- H. Students must never work more than 20 hours per week during periods of enrollment, provided the award is sufficient. Based on the average work-study award at CNCC, most students will be able to work approximately 10 hours per week.

- I. All students are paid every two weeks.
- J. All College Work-Study awards are based upon the availability of funds and may be revised during the school year without prior notice. In that event, every reasonable effort, through student loans, other jobs, etc., will be made to assist a student for the remainder of the year.
- K. Students whose work performance or attendance is unacceptable may have their contract canceled by the supervisor. Remember that this employment opportunity can provide documented work experience and references for future job.
- L. All work-studies will have a background check.
